Your data

May, in certain circumstances, be provided to other third parties such as HMRC or Companies House, or other regulatory or law enforcement bodies, technology companies that provide us with cloud-based solutions, professional advisers (as we engage with law firms, banks, accountants etc.) but only in compliance with the law and where strictly necessary.

Automated decision-making and profiling

You will not be subject to decisions that will have a significant impact on you based solely on automated decision-making, including profiling, unless you have given us your consent to do so, or it is necessary for entering into or the performance of a contract.

Your rights

- Access – you have the right to ask us for information on the personal data that we store and copies of examples of the personal data. This right always applies. There are some exemptions, which means you may not always receive all of the information and examples of copies of your personal data.
- Rectification - you have the right to ask us to rectify any of your personal data that you think is inaccurate or incomplete. This right always applies.
- Erasure - you have the right to ask us to erase your personal data where it is no longer required for purpose for which it was collected, or you withdraw your prior consent to us processing it and we have no other legal ground for processing it, or it is being processed unlawfully, or when it must be erased to comply with a legal obligation, or it is being used for direct marketing purposes where we have no legitimate grounds for us doing so.
- Restriction - you have the right to ask us to restrict the processing of your personal data where it is inaccurate (allowing us to verify the accuracy), or it is being processed unlawfully (and you want us to stop processing rather than erasing it), or where you have objected to us processing it while we're verifying whether we have legitimate grounds for processing, or it is no longer required for purpose for which it was collected and you want us to keep it for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

- Portability - this only applies to personal data you have given us. You have the right to ask us to transfer the information you provided us from one organisation to another or give it to you. This only applies if we are processing personal data based on your consent or as part of a contract, or in talks with you about entering into a contract and the processing is automated.
- Objection - you have the right to object to processing your personal data if we are using legitimate interests as our lawful basis for processing, or it is being used for direct marketing.
- Withdrawing consent – you can withdraw your consent that you have previously given to us for one or more specified purposes to process your personal data. This will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. It may mean we are not able to provide certain products or services to you and we will advise you if this is the case.
- You have the right to complain to a Supervisory Authority, in the UK that is the Information Commissioner's Office.

Breaches

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected data security breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected breach where we are legally required to do so.

Dealing with your data subject requests

We will deal with your data subject requests as soon as possible but may take up to 1 month (possibly extended to 3 months where the law permits). Normally there is no charge, however we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive, or excessive or we could refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that your personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

Note

This notice does not form part of any contract of employment or other contract to provide services.

Updates

We may update this privacy notice from time to time in order to reflect any changes to the way in which we process your personal data or changing legal requirements. Any changes to this privacy notice will be posted on this page and, where appropriate, notified to you by email (if you have registered your e-mail details with us) when we are required to do so by applicable law. We recommend that you review this privacy notice regularly for changes.

How to make a complaint

Data privacy laws are constantly evolving, and we endeavour to maintain best practices. However, if you believe that we have not got something right and you wish to discuss our processes, we would be happy to hear from you on privacy@fatgladiator.com in the first instance. If you are still unhappy, you should know that you have the right to contact the Information Commissioner's Office, which is our data protection supervisory authority, by clicking here: <https://ico.org.uk/make-a-complaint/>.

Supplementary information

Direct marketing

Our direct marketing activities comply with the Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003 (SI 2003/2426) which means that you may receive direct marketing communications from us if you have requested these, or you have purchased any of our services and have not opted-out from receiving these, or the communications are necessary for performing a contract between us.

Security

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used, altered, disclosed, destroyed, or accessed without authorisation. While no data transmission or storage can be guaranteed to be secure, we implement a range of commercially reasonable physical, technical, and procedural measures to help protect personal data. These measures include confidentiality agreements with third parties, secure development practices, security due diligence of service providers, products, services that may be used and ISO27001-based organisational security policies.

We have also put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breaches and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.
